

ROOSEVELT

Will Arbitrate Trouble If the Powers Insist.

Diplomatic Exchanges Are Now Passing Between Washington, London and Berlin--Official Notice From Rome and Berlin.

Washington, Dec. 22.—President Roosevelt stands ready to accept the responsibility of arbitrator between Venezuela and the European allies providing the latter cannot be induced to refer their differences to the Hague international tribunal.

Diplomatic exchanges are now passing between Washington and London and Berlin with his in view. There is no official confirmation here of the report published in London, that the President has already accepted the position of arbitrator. Neither is the story denied. The state department declines to make public the course of the present negotiations and there probably will be no official announcement until the matter is definitely announced. It may be definitely said, however, that rather than see the efforts to settle Venezuelan difficulties by arbitration come to naught, President Roosevelt will consent to the proposition of the powers.

There is a strong suspicion among officials of the administration that the proposal of the allies is no more than a clever scheme to throw a shade of responsibility upon this country, otherwise impossible. Indirectly, they say, it will establish the precedent by which the United States will become a kind of bad debt collector for European nations. It is this suspicion which leads the President to prefer that the case be sent to the Hague tribunal.

The Hague court has judiciary power but is entirely without authority to enforce its decrees.

For this reason the allies aver that they do not wish the case tried there, as Venezuela may refuse to accept the decision and more likely refuse to pay the money. Should President Roosevelt act as arbitrator, the refusal of Venezuela to pay, after she had once bound herself to abide by his decision could be regarded as an unfriendly act to this country.

The United States has already permitted its minister to act as intermediary for the conveyance of an arbitration proposal from Caracas. It has added to this an appeal that the proposal be accepted and suggested that the matter be left to the Hague. Next the Powers made a counter proposal that President Roosevelt who has been the unofficial peacemaker up to this time become the official arbitrator. His answer that he would prefer them to follow his original idea of the Hague is not regarded as final and until he makes it such, the Powers will undoubtedly insist upon his acting.

NOTICE FROM GERMANY.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Charmagne Tower, United States ambassador at Berlin, informed the state department by cable this morning of the official announcement of the German government of the blockade of Puerto Cabello and Maricao, Venezuela, taking effect from December 20.

ITALY SERVE NOTICE.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Ambassador Meyer at Rome cabled the state department today that he received yesterday from the Italian minister for foreign affairs an official note dated December 20, announcing that Italy had decided to participate with her naval forces in the blockade of Venezuelan ports, which had been declared by the British and German governments.

Berlin, Dec. 22.—Germany and England will today send a note to their respective Ambassadors in America, stating the conditions on which the arbitration of the Venezuelan claims will be accepted. The Powers are co-operating most cordially and are greatly desirous of discontinuing the blockade as soon as President Castro shows a sincere intention of yielding. This it is believed, would happen if President Roosevelt accepted the arbitratorship.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The navy department today received a dispatch from Commander Diehl, of the Marietta, as follows:

"La Guayra, Dec. 22.—British Vice Admiral establishes effective blockade from and after December 20, of La Guayra, Capero, Guanta, Cumana, Carupano, and mouth of Orinoco. Vessels sailing from the U. S. and West Indies before date of notification allowed grace; steamers ten days; sailing vessels 20; other ports, steamers 20, sailing vessels 40; vessels in blockade ports 15 days. DIEHL."

Fine Horse Dead.

Croton, O., Dec. 22.—The valuable Percheron draft horse recently purchased at Columbus by a company of men in this vicinity, died Sunday night of colic at G. W. Davidson's stable. The company paid $300 for the horse and it is said that the animal was not insured. The horse took a premium at the Chicago Stock Show recently.

Cuban Reciprocity.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Relative to the reciprocity treaty with Cuba, submitted to the Senate by President Roosevelt for approval, Representative Daize of Pennsylvania, said this morning: "This is a very unfortunate matter. If the Senate can originate tariff legislation, as contemplated in this treaty, the House might as well abdicate. It is unfortunate, also, as it will carry the House against the Senate and against the executive department of the government."

Washington, Dec. 22.—Military honors were accorded the remains of the late General Wager Swayne of New York, whose funeral was conducted this morning.

THUMB CUT OFF—Henry Reuss while helping to make sausage at the home of Gid Sutton south of town, had his right thumb caught in the grinder by a fellow workman touching his hand, and the thumb was cut off half way to the first knuckle. He is under the care of Dr. Stinson.

BEATEN

By Son Till He Was Senseless Was Akron Man Who Shot His Wife to Death.

Akron, O., Dec. 22.—Mrs. John H. Barber is dead, and her husband, beaten to insensibility, lies in the city prison a murderer, as the result of a drunken spree and family quarrel in East Akron Sunday evening. Barber had been drinking all day, and went home at supper time. Things did not suit him, and he chased the family out of the house. He then procured a shotgun and stood guard inside to prevent their return.

Mrs. Barber tried to open the door, and her husband shot through one of the panels, killing her instantly, one of the grains of shot having pierced her heart. A son, Austin Barber, aged 23, then burst in the door, grabbed the gun and hammered the father over the head with the stock. By this time neighbors arrived and interfered. The father would undoubtedly have been killed by his son had neighbors not pulled him away.

Officer William Bruner was called, and the murderer, then insensible, was loaded into a patrol wagon and taken to the city prison. His face was badly cut and his left jaw broken. Nearly 100 people gathered at the Barber home on North Case avenue after the shooting, and there was considerable demonstration, as Barber has often abused his family when intoxicated. He was aged 54 and his wife 50. They have been married 25 years, and have four children.

Hugh Dewitt, a nonagenarian inmate of the Soldiers' Home in Lafayette, Ind., has carved his own tombstone with a unique epitaph, and has constructed a coffin to hold his remains.

STORY

Will Be Told by the Breath

Emotions of the Mind to Be Portrayed

BY MEANS OF A VERY PECULIAR COLORLESS SOLUTION.

INVENTOR OF THE APPARATUS

A Chemist of Note, is Not as Yet Through With His Experiments.

The Story.

Washington, Dec. 22.—An apparatus which is said to reproduce in living and varying colors the changing thought and moods of the human mind has been invented by Prof. Elmer W. Gates, known here as the "wizard of Chevy Chase," a suburb of Washington. If practical in its operation and certain in its results, its use very likely will have a great influence upon the treatment of mental and nervous disorders and also prove of considerable value to criminologists.

The device consists of a tall glass jar half filled with a colorless solution, to which are attached two glass tubes which pass through an opening in its top. One of the tubes has an apparatus which fits over the mouth and the other runs to a glass receptacle containing purified air.

When this is fitted over the mouth of a person and the breath passes through the liquid and thence to the glass receptacle the varying thoughts within his mind are reflected in the changing colors of the liquid in the jar, this action being due to the effect of the chemical properties of the breath upon the solution.

Thus far the experiments have merely determined what colors reflect certain moods, such as happiness and melancholia, but as they progress, the inventor says he expects that the knowledge of the "brain colors" will grow accordingly. He argues that if a certain color indicates the presence of a certain mood, the varying shades of that color, as seen in the liquid, must be reproductions of varying intensities or different phases of the same mood. For example, the wizard anticipates that when complete knowledge and control of the operation of the "wonder bottle" has been attained it will be possible to differentiate the "suicide shade" from the general color representing melancholia. This test, applied in the case of a person suffering from acute melancholia and with suicidal tendencies, would reveal the state of the diseased mind, which now can only be determined very indefinitely in most cases, and would result in making possible an accurate course of treatment and precautions to prevent a consummation of the idea dominant in the affected brain.

The value of such an invention in criminal cases would appear to be obvious. It is contended that sincerity is as much a brain mood as those which are more commonly included in that category. Hence, when further experiments have determined more a knowledge of the truth color would make unnecessary the application of the "thirty-third degree" system through which suspects are now put, as a test with the "wonder bottle" would determine at once whether the accused person is telling the truth or not.

The preliminary experiments which led up to the invention were directed to another end, and so that the actual discovery may be said to be the result of an accident. For many years Dr. Gates has been a student of the human brain, and when he started the tests which culminated in the "wonder bottle" he was engaged in working out a system by which he hoped the approach of any disease could be determined in advance of the manifestation of its physical symptoms. The scientists say he will continue his experiments along the line of developing the "brain color" device, but desires to secure better and more complete results before making public the details and the composition of the fluid of the "wonder bottle." Prof. Gates is known in the scientific world as the possessor of the finest private laboratory and workshops south of New York, from which announcements have been made from time to time of some very remarkable discoveries with regard to brain cell composition and action.

SCRATCH

RESULTED IN BLOOD POISONING AND DEATH.

Young Vane Rex, 92 West Church Street, Passed Away Monday After Short Illness.

Vane Rex, son of Mrs. Joseph Rex, died at his home, 92 West Church street, at 12:20 o'clock this afternoon, after a brief illness of blood poisoning. The deceased had been employed in the draughting department of the B. & O. shops for some time, and went to work as usual on Thursday, but returned home at noon with his face broken out and considerably swollen. A physician was called in and pronounced it a case of blood poisoning, and every effort was made to save his life, but without avail.

The deceased was aged 16 years. A few days ago he was working about a brass lathe in the shops, and it is supposed that he scratched his face, with the result that blood poisoning set in. Besides his mother he leaves three sisters, Misses Ruby and Ethel Rex, and Mrs. H. W. Allen. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral, but it is thought it will take place from the house on Wednesday afternoon.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The following announcement was made at the White House this afternoon:

"Between Christmas and New Year's day the President will not make any appointments for receiving callers and will not have any regular office hours during that week."

Toledo, Dec. 22.—The body of Mrs. S. D. Smith, a bride of four days, was found in a toilet room with a revolver by her side last night. She came to the depot in response to a telegram to meet her husband there. He cannot be found. She had known her husband but a short time when she married him at Monroe, Mich. The police do not know whether it was murder or suicide. She was known to have money about her, but only a $500 check was found.

NO SHELTER

For Smallpox Patients in Indianapolis and a Serious Spread of the Disease is Feared.

Indianapolis, Dec. 22.—The smallpox situation in this city is one of grave concern. Recently the City Council, by an overwhelming majority, condemned the city administration because of delay in establishing a pest-house, charging that political considerations were at fault. The City Council followed this with an ordinance peremptorily establishing a site in the Fourth ward, and the next day the city authorities made purchases of real estate as provided in the ordinance. Today the Fourth ward people held a mass meeting and resolved upon injunction proceedings, in which the flower mission, which is building a hospital for the incurables in the same quarter of the city, and the free kindergarten, which has a school for trained nurses, will co-operate. The injunction proceedings will delay matters indefinitely. Meanwhile, the disease continues to spread, and there is no shelter for the afflicted save in tents.

Birth Every Ten Minutes.

New York, Dec. 22.—New York City increases its population at the rate of an infant every 10 minutes, according to the statistics just made public by the Society of the Lying-in Hospital in its annual report. There were 51,688 births during the year which ended September 30 last. In the borough of Manhattan this was 1,460 in excess of the birth rate of the previous year.

There are 825 labor unions in Chicago, with an estimated membership of more than 300,000.

TRIED

Hard to End His Life

But Three Bullets Failed to Do the Work

JACKSONTOWN MAN'S EFFORT TO SHUFFLE OFF.

EX-HOTEL PROPRIETOR JONES

Whose Wife Not Long Ago Sued Him For Divorce Attempted Suicide Saturday Night.

Jacksontown, O., Dec. 22.—That Benjamin Jones, former proprietor of the Hotel Avondale at Buckeye Lake, is not dead is no fault of his own, as he made a desperate effort to prepare himself for burial last Saturday evening. Jones shot himself three times, but the indications are that he will recover.

In the Probate Court at Newark, not long ago, Mrs. Jones entered suit for divorce against her husband alleging failure to provide. As Jones at that time was in Kansas, service was made through publication in the Advocate. Recently Jones returned home and it is said that the domestic relations were none too pleasant.

The unpleasantness culminated early Saturday evening when Jones produced a pistol and began to shoot bullets into his head. One shot entered the head an inch back of the ear, but it glanced off the skull, another struck the back part of the head and the third penetrated his chest, but it seems did not hit any of the vital organs.

When the shooting began Mrs. Jones ran to the door screaming for help. Thomas Judy and Robert Catlin responded to the call for assistance and wrested the revolver from Jones before he succeeded in emptying its chambers. Doctors were called and they said that his wounds were not fatal.

Benjamin Jones is about 50 years of age. He was proprietor of the Hotel Avondale about two years ago. Formerly he was a farmer, but has not been occupied recently.

WIRELESS

Message Is Flashed Across the Atlantic Ocean

Marconi Himself Announces the Complete Success of His Experiments--Messages From Cape Breton, Canada to Cornwall, England.

London, Dec. 22.—The Times today received the following message by the Marconi Wireless telegraphy from Sir R. J. Cartwright, Canadian Minister of Commerce: "Government of Canada, through the Times, desires to congratulate the British people on the accomplishment by Marconi of the great feat of modern science has yet achieved."

New York, Dec. 22.—The following dispatch from Marconi, dated Gloucester, N. S., December 21, has been received by the Associated Press:

"I beg to inform you for circulation that I have established wireless telegraph communication between Cape Breton, Canada, and Cornwall, England, with complete success. Inauguratory messages including one from the Governor General of Canada to King Edward VII, have already been transmitted and forwarded to the King of England and Italy. A message to the London Times has also been transmitted in the presence of its special correspondent, D. Parkin, M. P."

"G. MARCONI."

The London Times confirms the receipt of a message by wireless telegraphy from Marconi at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia.

The science of wireless telegraphy, for it has become practically a new science, dates its birth from Michael Faraday, who first recognized the nature of the electrical waves, or rather the true movement and play of electricity, although the "waves" were not known to him as such. Faraday said that electricity was the result of the play of atoms and molecules. This suggested to James Clerk-Maxwell, the great Scotch physicist, who died in 1879, the similarity of light waves and electric waves. After experimenting he came to the conclusion that they were of the same species and governed by similar laws. He concluded that the undulations or waves of electricity could be transmitted through the air in the same manner as light, and with about the same rapidity, as the electric waves differed from luminous waves only in force.

The German scientist, Heinrich Hertz, who died in 1894, was able to prove beyond question the exactness of the theory announced by Clerk-Maxwell. The verification of this theory, and the advance he made upon the laws discovered by Clerk-Maxwell, have warranted scientists in naming the waves after him as the "Hertzian waves." The theory and the law had been established by others: Hertz had measured the waves, Branly and Duguet had invented receivers for registering them, and the Russian savant, Popoff, had successfully sent messages by means of them as early as 1895, but it had not been thoroughly demonstrated that the waves could be transmitted for a considerable distance, registered and easily read.

It is with these waves that Marconi has been experimenting so successfully.

SURVIVORS

OF MISSING SHIPS SUFFERED GREAT HARDSHIP.

Of 25 Men on Schooners Ten Were Drowned and Five Others Died of Exposure.

Boston, Dec. 22.—The fishing schooner Manhasset arrived here this morning with 10 survivors of the missing schooners Louise Cray and Frank Palmer. Of 25 men on the two sunken schooners ten men were drowned and five died of exposure.

The Louise B. Cray was a five

ly. The way had been blazed out, but no scientist had followed it far enough to justify the conclusion that the waves would ever be used for the practical transmission of messages without the aid of wire. Marconi took up the study where Clerk-Maxwell, Hertz, Right, Popoff, Sarasin, Branly and a dozen others had left off or had just arrived. Marconi saw where the study of the undulations had come to a stand and he took up the investigation exactly at that point, and soon had perfected a system by which actual messages could be sent a short distance, and drawing liberally upon the ideas of his predecessors, so improved upon their tests that his five years' experimenting on his father's estate in Italy enabled him to invent means of his own to send messages a much greater distance. In 1897 his achievements attracted great attention in England, and he proved their practicability by actual test. Later he succeeded in transmitting messages across the English channel.

Still greater success followed as he perfected means of larger transmission. He went to New Foundland, after arranging a station at Cornwall, England, and on December 12, 1901, he received the first wireless message across the ocean. It was only one letter, but the fact that one letter could be sent nearly 2000 miles was a confirmation of his theory, and furnished a working basis for further development of the science.

He continued his experiments until in February, 1902, messages of same length were received and "ticked" out on printed slips of paper in the Morse telegraphic code. Ten messages have been sent 2,100 miles and received without error, the greatest difficulty, being in the correct adjustment of current and the proper elevation of the sending and receiving stations. This is costly. The young inventor has already spent a fortune in his experiments, and the Italian government, has assisted him, but a perfection of his system will more than justify all expense.

The inventor is not yet 28 years of age. He was born in Italy, April 17, 1875, of an Italian father and Irish mother, and she devoted much of his time to experiments in electricity. He was assisted by his father until the fame of his accomplishments enabled him to command more powerful support. He is a small, nervous man, whose energy is indefatigable and whose devotion to his work is complete. It will be recalled that less than a year ago his engagement to Miss Josephine Holman, the daughter of the Congressman from Indiana, was broken, but that seems not to have lessened his ardor for work.

It is also alleged that several of his important achievements were accomplished with instruments built according to other men's ideas. Marconi has fully acknowledged his indebtedness to his predecessors in his line, but his own work has shown for itself and places him in the foremost rank among modern inventors.

masted schooner and the Frank Palmer were four masted. Both were coal laden, bound for Boston. The schooners collided off the Massachusetts coast during a gale Wednesday. They came together, bow on, and both were so badly damaged that they sank in a few minutes. Only one boat could be cut away from the Frank Palmer, and in this the captain and five men managed to get clear of the wreck. They picked up eight men who were in the water. The others, ten in number, went down with the schooners. The weather was at zero and the suffering of the survivors was intense. The men were kept at the oars to keep them from freezing to death. They battled four days with the waves before they were picked up.

The Christmas Number.

The Christmas number of the Advocate made a great hit with the people, as has been evidenced by the unusual demand for copies of the paper and by the numerous complimentary remarks that have been made by readers.

Hundreds of extra copies of the edition have been sold, wholly exhausting the supply. The publishers had anticipated an extra demand, but the big edition proved inadequate to supply all.

Many people have kindly spoken words of congratulation over the success of the paper and the Advocate takes this occasion to thank all for their courteous expressions.

An amusing incident is connected with the Christmas number. The Advocate went ahead quietly in preparing the Christmas number which appeared on the streets Saturday a half hour earlier than usual or at 3 o'clock. The Christmas number consisted of 28 pages, the three sections being enclosed in a handsomely colored cover. Two hours later the Advocate's contemporary was out with a 22 page paper with no cover but containing the astonishing announcement editorially that it was "the biggest paper ever printed in Newark outside of industrial editions." The paper made quite a blow over its 22 page edition.

The Advocate made no boast at all of its 28 page edition.

The Advocate is quite content with the results.

Mr. Roosevelt Should Decline.

(Pittsburg Post.)

The President proposed to Germany and Great Britain that their claims and charges against Venezuela be submitted to the permanent tribunal at The Hague. The powers submit as a counter proposition that Mr. Roosevelt himself arbitrate the matters. He should decline the proffer. It is a high honor for two Great Nations thus to repose confidence in him, taking the matter from the individual viewpoint, and equally as high if his executive character was the impelling cause, for thus trust in this Nation is evidenced. Nor is it any belittling of official dignity or station to accept the adjustment of old debts and petty insults. Sovereigns of countries called mighty have thus served.

But Mr. Roosevelt is an interested party. He should be a biased judge; not that his prejudice, using the word in its true sense, would warp his judgment after collation and study of the testimony, but he stands for the United States, and this Nation in some manner, probably not capable of prior definition, may stand for Venezuela. The recent performances of the allies in the Caribbean, whether so directed or not, were inevitably reflecting upon the Monroe doctrine.

Mr. Roosevelt ought not to enter into the snare set by professions of friendship by nations who were willing to violate an agreement made with him not to do things of the kind they did do. The President is retained on the other side. The outcome, whoever brings it about, may prove satisfactory to all concerned, but let some third party arbitrate. There is craft and guile in this proposition. Some indication into the doctrine is planned. The Hague tribunal stands as the world-appointed court of arbitration.

Captured By Convicts

(Copyright, 1902, by H. L. Harold.)

We had discharged our cargo at Georgetown from the brig Albatross and were ready to start on our return voyage to Liverpool when the captain was notified that ten French convicts from the penal settlement of Cayenne had escaped to sea in a yawl.

Three days later and 120 miles to the south our lookout sighted the craft and her convict crew. In a quarter of an hour the yawl lay off our port bow within speaking distance.

"Hello, captain! Our ship went down off here (pointing to the east) yesterday afternoon. We have neither food nor drink, and we ask you, in the name of humanity, to supply us."

"I have nothing to spare, and I warn you to keep off!" shouted the captain in answer to the request.

We had seen no arms among them and had supposed them to be without weapons of any sort. To our great surprise, five muskets, taken from the guard when they escaped, were suddenly lifted into view, while four oars dropped into the water, and the yawl made for our bows. There was a fierce yell from every convict, and those with muskets opened fire. Captain Rothsay was killed and the second mate wounded even before they had hooked on. We scolded them with boiling water and fought them with whatever we could lay hold of, but within five minutes the brig was captured. We had a foremost hand killed in the fight on deck, and none of us escaped injury. As an offset we killed two of the convicts while they were trying to board.

As chief officer I was asked about our cargo and destination, and on the other hand the leader informed me that they were sorry to interrupt our voyage, but intended to use the brig to make good their escape.

The first thing was to get rid of the dead bodies. They allowed us to sew them in canvas before they went overboard, and then our wounded men were made comfortable. After the burial the leader said to us:

"We mean you no harm. We are desperate men and intend to make our escape. After we have been landed in some safe place you may sail away with your brig. If you try to deceive us, we will show you no mercy."

I was further informed that I must act as captain and navigate the brig, and I was allowed to choose a mate from among my men. After that a council was held among the eight of us as to what place should be steered for. I brought them the charts from the cabin, and after a long debate it was decided to run for the Amazon river.

From the very first I had hoped that we might retake the brig, but the convicts would only trust us so far. The watches were so divided by order of Moran that our men were separated, and two of the convicts were kept under arms to act as sentries. Moran and the second mate had quarters aft with me, while all the others berthed forward. All of us were under surveillance, and no two of us were ever left alone together. While none of them could take the wheel, they kept constant watch on the compass.

The winds were light and variable, and it was the sixth day after our capture before we drew in with the coast. Moran's orders were to avoid Para by entering the north mouth, and when we were fairly in the river he told me their plans. I was to take them in the brig up as far as the mouth of the Xingu river, and they then would pull up the stream in the yawl and make for the diamond district. We were not above thirty miles up the river when we were obliged to come to anchor for want of a breeze. About the time we anchored the demeanor of the convicts seemed to change for the worse. It appeared as if three or four of them were anxious to pick a quarrel with our men. That evening the second mate found opportunity to say to me:

"Depend upon it, Mr. Lenox, they never meant to stand by their bargain. I shouldn't be surprised if they were planning to cut our throats and scuttle the brig."

I strongly suspected them of some evil intention, but nothing came of it that night. Next morning we had wind and tide in our favor, and at noon, when we anchored again, we had made twenty-five miles. Right away after dinner the yawl was lowered and Moran began to outfit her. Whatever they thought could be made useful was placed in the boat, and they were rummaging about the whole afternoon. At about 6 o'clock Moran ordered all of the old crew of the brig into the cabin. Every man of us at once realized that the climax was at hand, and, acting in concert, we made a sudden and furious attack. We got possession of two of the muskets and were making a good fight of it, though bound to be beaten in the end, when a Brazilian gunboat, which was on her way up the river, sighted alongside of us and had grappled on before some of us saw her. Her presence put an end to the fight, of course. We had two men wounded, while we had killed one convict and wounded a second.

Our captors were nearly trapped, but they no longer realized it than they claimed to be the real crew of the vessel and denounced us as convicts. They were so earnest and emphatic in their declarations that the commander of the gunboat was almost convinced. I destroyed their case, however, when I asked them for the captain's name, our port of hail, the names of the different ropes and sails, etc. They were ironed and taken aboard the gunboat to be conveyed to Cayenne, while the brig was towed down to Para to be put through the legal forms necessary in such cases.

M. QUAD.

FOUGHT A DUEL

Under Orders From the Commander of the Company

Now This Newark Man Who Was Injured in the Fight Makes Application For a Pension and Will Probably Get It.

Clarence E. Orr, a young man who is employed at the Everett glass works, made application for a pension, last spring and the final affidavits were prepared by Attorney C. W. Miller on Monday morning, and forwarded to Mr. Orr's attorneys at Washington, Messrs. J. B. Cralle & Co. These attorneys as well as Mr. Miller, and other pension experts, say that Mr. Orr's claim, while based upon a most remarkable set of circumstances, there being as far as known, no duplicate, is a valid one and there is little doubt but that he will receive substantial government recompense for injuries sustained. These circumstances were related to a reporter for the Advocate Monday morning by Mr. Orr and form the subject matter of the affidavit supporting his claim for a pension.

Orr was a member of Company B, 17th regiment, and was located in July, 1901, at Alaminos, Philippine Islands, where the 17th was doing garrison duty. Charles Youse also of Newark, was a member of K Company in this regiment and was well acquainted with Mr. Orr while both were serving in Luzon.

On the night of July 23, 1901, Private Clarence E. Orr, was detailed for guard duty, and while in the discharge of this duty became involved in an altercation with Private George Kintzell, a Pennsylvanian, and also a member of B Company.

Kintzell abused Orr and called him vile names until they came to blows, but were soon separated and both taken before Lieut. Bell, commanding the company, who issued a remarkable order. Bell commanded that the following morning the difficulty between the men should be settled by them fighting a duel with their fists, until one of them could fight no more.

In accordance with these orders a referee was appointed and the fight took place before nearly the entire company. For a time it was a fierce battle but early in the fight, Orr sustained a compound fracture of the right hand. He continued however, finally beat his man, and was declared victor by the referee.

For this injury which has left Orr's right hand in a very weakened and practically helpless condition he seeks to have a pension allowed.

Charles T. and Harry E. Kleinlines' names appear on the affidavits as eye witnesses to the affair, with that of John Gearing who lives at St. Mary's, Ohio. The Kleinlines' address is Valley Crossing, Columbus, O.

It is stated by the claimant that he engaged in the fight under orders from his superior. Failure to do so would have been equal to insubordination, a serious military offense, and that while under these orders he was performing military duty as much as if he dug a trench, or performed any other disagreeable duty, under the orders of his company commander. This view is held by everyone who was told of it Monday, among them being military experts, as well as pensioners, and claim agents.

Orr was discharged on December 21, 1901, and has since that time been about Newark, his parents residing in Licking township.

After the fight he and Kintzell became reconciled and were good friends and Kintzell would aid his erstwhile antagonist in any way possible to obtain a pension.

OLD PEOPLE'S HOME

Newark Real Estate Company Leases Granville Female College Which Was Recently Purchased From Trustees--Alterations Will Begin at Once.

The Newark Real Estate and Improvement Company which a few days ago purchased the Granville Female College property from the trustees of that institution, have just closed a deal whereby a portion of the property including the main building, has been leased for a term of fifteen months to the Methodist Old People's Home.

The Home at Yellow Springs, Ohio, in Darke county, was recently destroyed by fire, since which time the old people all of whom were rescued, as the fire occurred about 8 o'clock in the morning, have been kept in farm houses nearby.

As soon as the Newark company acquired the Granville property, communication was begun with Dr. Weakly, president of the Home, and within the past week Dr. Weakly and members of his board of trustees have visited Granville. They were much pleased with the property which with a few alterations and repairs will suit them exactly. They will occupy the building until the new Home which they are now planning is built.

The Newark Real Estate Company reserves that portion of the property facing on College street, and also the college brick hall which constitutes the west wing of the big building. The old laundry building will be torn away at once.

The company has plans for that part of the property which is not conveyed in the lease, but at present is not ready to disclose them.

A force of plasterers and paper hangers will be put in the building at once. The four story building will be thoroughly renovated and put in condition for occupancy by January 1, by which time the Methodists will take possession.

BURGLARS

THREE PLACES IN NEWARK ARE VISITED.

Stephan's Racket Store, Mrs. Doyle's Grocery and Mrs. McArtor's Hen Roost Suffer.

The Racket store of C. L. & A. S. Stephen, corner of West Main and Fourth streets, was entered by burglars on Sunday night. The thieves secured an entrance to the store through the cellar. They secured $12 and a suit of clothes.

On Saturday night thieves entered the grocery store of Mrs. Doyle on Eleventh street, and carried off a considerable quantity of cigars. They had taken both money drawers from their places in their search for money, but fortunately all the money had been removed. They gained entrance by smashing in the front window with a brick.

Chicken thieves visited the henry of Mrs. McArtor, on Maholm street, on Sunday night and carried off twenty-five of her finest chickens.

In each case the police were notified, and will endeavor to arrest the guilty parties.

HUMBERTS

Are Being Well Treated in Prison—A Former Steward is Arrested.

Madrid, Dec. 22—When Mme. Humbert, and other members of the Humbert family, who became notorious in connection with the great safe frauds in Paris, were arrested one of the family handed a package containing $48,000 to some people who lived in the same house with them. The package has been sent to the French consulate.

The Humberts are being well treated in prison. They are permitted to have their meals sent in from a neighboring restaurant. They all occupy separate cells, are carefully watched and are not allowed to receive visitors.

The prisoners passed a rather restless night, but Sunday they seemed more resigned.

A maid servant who was employed by the Humberts in Madrid says that they allowed nobody to enter their house and started in apprehension at every ring of the bell. They assisted in the housework themselves, and the men of the party never went out except at night.

According to published interviews Frederic Humbert declares that the revelations of himself and his confederates will rival the Panama scandals and show that they were the victims of robbers who exploited them. He says that all classes in Paris, from visitors down, will be involved. Mme. Humbert claims to have in Paris documents which compromise prominent personages.

FORMER STEWARD ARRESTED.

Paris, Dec. 22—Parayre, a former steward of the Humberts, who was arrested at Rouen was brought here on Sunday. It is said that voluminous correspondence between this man and the Humberts has been seized at his home.

REVOLTING CRIMES

That are Vaguely Hinted at—Superior of an Orphanage Arrested.

Munich, Dec. 22—Surprise and consternation were caused by the sudden arrest of Fraulien von Haecusier, for many years the Superior of the famous Maximilian Orphanage, an institution founded by King Maximilian I., who, until the arrest, was greatly respected. But even more sensational than her arrest are the careful hints in the newspapers concerning the charges made against this matron, who is suspected of having put a number of pretty nurses out of the way by poison. The revolting crimes hinted at are said to cover a number of years.

For a long time those who were well posted whispered that many a nurse who came to the institution a pretty young girl, had died suddenly under mysterious circumstances. Investigations were made secretly in several of these cases, but nothing was gained, and for a long time there was not a ghost of a suspicion against the Superior of this semi-religious institution.

Fraulien Haecusier appeared exceedingly religious, and watched, as it seemed, with a never tiring energy over the morals of her famous charges. Then there was found among the ef-feels of a nurse who had died like the others a letter addressed to her nearest relatives that had never been sent out. The investigating judge took this letter quietly with him. What this letter contained has not been disclosed, but there is ample reason to believe that the writer made revolting charges against the Superior. When the accused saw the officer who came to arrest her she fell in a dead faint before he had told her of his mission. It is said that she has already made an attempt to suicide in prison.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, says:

"There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know of. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any other I ever knew and thoroughly reliable."

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—Mrs. R. A. Anderson, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.—$5000 forfeit if original of above testimonial proving genuineness cannot be produced.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause, and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours, a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kiefer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills its sworn duty in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kiefer & Co., Bangor, N. Y. When writing mention this advertisement and the name of the druggist who has recommended Swamp-Root, and the name of the city, State, and country, and the name of the person to whom the bottle is to be sent.

Curing rheumatism is not so difficult as many imagine if the cure is directed at the cause.

That's the reason Hagee's Cordial of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is so successful in curing rheumatism, neuralgia, etc.—it goes direct to the cause—corrects the evil where evil exists, re-establishes natural functional conditions, and eliminates the disease.

There is no grease; no fishy taste; no odor; no nausea in Hagee's Cordial. It contains all the active principles of cod liver oil in a pleasing, palatable form without the grease. It cures by nourishing the blood and nerves in a natural way.

Burglars' Tools Found on Broadway. Schools Close—College Town News Items.

Granville, O., Dec. 22.—Saturday evening as Henry Walters, a young farmer living west of this place, was coming into the village his horse frightened at something alongside the road and ran away. Henry, although pretty badly scared held to the reins and finally succeeded in stopping his horse. The ride was a most exciting one. Robert Forgraves, the ventriloquist, gave a good entertainment at the Welsh Hills school house on Monday evening, which was well attended.

The Granville public schools will close on Wednesday for the holiday vacation and interesting exercises were held at the Opera House on Friday evening. The closing term has been a most successful one, and highly gratifying to Prof. Coons, the efficient superintendent, and his able corps of teachers, as well as the Board of Education. The curriculum of the Granville schools is on a high level, and the corps of instructors is an efficient one. The entertainment on Friday evening was for the benefit of the school library.

SMITH'S SON

MUST ANSWER TO CONTEMPT OF COURT CHARGE.

Witness Says He Hired Him to Leave the City While Father's Case Was Tried.

(M. T. Verdon Banner.)

A sensational episode occurred in court Thursday morning in connection with the case of John B. Smith for selling intoxicating liquors in Brink Haven, a local option municipality. Two of the witnesses for the State, Oka Black and Otto Workman, had failed to respond to the subpoenas and an attachment was issued against them for contempt of court. Deputy Shellenbarger went after them Wednesday, but could not find them. Thursday morning Oka Black appeared in court, and was placed on the witness stand to be given an opportunity to purge himself of the charge of contempt of court. He was examined by Prosecutor Ewalt and made the startling statement that Alva Smith, a son of John B. Smith, had induced him to go to Holmes county and visit relations during the progress of the trial, agreeing to pay him $150 a day and his expenses while absent, or until the trial of his father was over. Judge Seward deferred punishment of Black and Prosecutor Ewalt at once filed an information in a proceedings against Alva Smith for contempt of court.

SECRETLY

It is Believed, Chemist Wiley Has Been Doctoring His "Subjects" With Boracic Acid.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Prof. Wiley, the chief chemist of the Agricultural Department, has, it is believed, played a doctor's trick on the 12 young men who are the subject of his experiments with adulterated and so-called poisoned foods. The statement was recently made that there was delay in getting the men into condition to take boracic acid. The report is, however, already at the department that the "patients" have unwary been taking pleasant doses of boracic acid for a week.

There were two methods spoken of by which boracic acid and borax could be administered. One was by administering the acid in capsules and the other by putting it into the food either during or after cooking. A capsule could not be administered secretly, so it is said, and it is believed that there has been administration of the acid in gravy, soup, custard and in the dainties which the professor is feeding these martyrs at dessert. Whether this be true or not, the young men are getting along all right in this third week of their experiment. For the past two nights the boys had a great roast of beef, sweet potatoes, creamed Irish potatoes and other good things.

Prof. Wiley's trouble about the lean fat men that would not get lean has disappeared. They are now declared to be "normal." Getting them into a normal condition, in fact, would be the result of boracic acid, which they have taken unawares.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Do not let rubbish of any kind lie underneath the trees. It harbors vermin. A yard or lawn always looks barren without some ornamental trees and shrubs.

As an apple or pear orchard will last a lifetime, particular care must be taken in the selection of varieties.

If currants and gooseberries are pruned in tree form, they will bear larger and finer fruit. Prune every year.

To have a good garden the land must be kept rich by liberal use of manure. During the winter is the best time to apply it.

Nearly all house plants will be benefited by having the blossoms that appear immediately after planting in pots pruned off. Let the plant get well established before flowering.

The rose is a hearty feeder and will therefore bear annual manuring, but only well rotted and thoroughly fined manure should be used, taking care to work it well into the soil early in the winter.

People Who Cannot Make Fires.

The Papuans of the Malay coast of New Guinea are still in the most primitive state. They are wholly unacquainted with metals and make their weapons of stone, bones and wood. They do not know how to start a fire, though fire is used among them. When a Russian asked them how they made a fire, they regarded it as very amusing and answered that when a person's fire went out he got some of a neighbor, and if all the fires in the village should go out they would get it from the next village. Their fathers and grandfathers had told them that they remembered a time or had heard from their ancestors that there was a time when fire was not known and everything was eaten raw.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT.

"Rupert of Hentzau," which will be seen at the Auditorium on December 26th, is said to be a triumph for Anthony Hope's romanticism—the way in which he shows how men can love "the bright face of danger." The story was such a whirlwind of plots and counterplots that it was not easy to follow, but in dramatizing it the author has set forth the story in the clearest possible manner. It is said to exceed in virility and charm all of his other efforts, both as a story and play.

The story of "Rupert of Hentzau" begins with the return of Rudolf Rassendyll, the Englishman, to the kingdom of Ruritania in pursuit of a letter which has been written to him by Queen Flavia, and to reinstate himself in the favor of the king, and the action of the play deals with his attempts to accomplish his purpose and the efforts of Rassendyll, aided by Colonel Sapt and Fritz von Tarlenheim, to prevent his success and save the Queen's honor. The story affords ample opportunity for the display of dramatic talent of the highest quality, and the play is full of virile action from start to finish. The climaxes, which follow each other with remarkable rapidity, are novel in conception and striking in effect, particularly the sensational duel of the third act, and the tableau which ends the fourth act and play.

The carrying out of the conceptions of author and dramatist is in the hands of that brilliant young romantic actor, Harry Leighton, supported by an excellent company. The production is under the management of Mr. Wallace Munro, and is one of the most elaborate in detail which has been sent out from the New York Lyceum Theatre. The demand for seats in advance indicates the interest taken by local theatre goers in the approaching presentation.

CHRISTMAS AT AUDITORIUM.

With The Bright Light Vaudeville Company at Auditorium. Christmas Matinee and night.

The Atkinson & Richards Bright Lights, a high class vaudeville company, who made a very favorable record throughout the middle east last season will be seen at the Auditorium Christmas matinee and night. The company is headed by such well known performers as Bud Farnum, monologue man, Mlle. Alene, juggler and hoop-roller; Rench & Kennedy and giraffe trained "Jargon"; Richards, foot juggler; Pullen, the dancer; Richards & Leslie, illustrated songs. The sensational cycle-whirl;

George Baker, comedienne; Anna Mae Purdon, comedienne, and other high class acts. The management assures a fine clean performance.

"MICKEY FINN."

"Mickey Finn," and his combination of farce comedy actors appeared at the Lycoming theatre, Tuesday afternoon and evening, and, judging by the ripples of laughter that chased each other in quick succession through the audience, "Mickey" pleased the people. Eddie Russell appeared as "Mickey," that bad boy, and he was full of mischief and life all the time. He also did an acrobatic dance that was marvelous. Perry and Leonard, the Irish comedians, were one of the hits of the show. The production was excellently mounted with beautiful scenery. There was a bunch of pretty girls, a number of specialties and the attraction was enjoyed by large audience. "Mickey" Finn is built for laughing purposes, and as such it is certainly a success.—Daily Gazette and Bulletin, Williamsport, Pa.

This big fun spectacle will be at the Auditorium. Christmas eve, Wednesday, December 24. Prices only 25, 35 and 50 cents.

LYON COMEDY COMPANY.

The Lyon Comedy company will present "Black Diamonds" this evening. Commencing this evening, the Lyon Comedy company, presenting a high class repertoire of comedies, will be seen at Jones' Opera House, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. The company, which is a large one, will play at popular prices, 10, 20 and 35 cents. Every attention to detail is given in mounting the different plays and the costuming is said to be beyond the usual standard of repertoire companies. The laughable four-act comedy "Black Diamonds," will be presented this evening with specialties between the acts. Ladies tickets have been issued for this evening, admitting any lady for 15 cents. Seats are on sale at the theatre box office, and are selling fast.

Country School Entertainment.

The pupils of sub-district No. 2 in Newark township gave a Christmas entertainment last Friday afternoon, which was largely attended. After the exercises by the pupils were completed, Santa Claus came in and distributed candies, oranges, bananas, etc., to the pupils, and also he gave Mr. Titus Jones a large stick of candy, and Mr. J. F. Keller a big tin horn for their excellent behavior during the rendition of the program.

Mr. W. J. Stewart, Mrs. Jesse English and Mr. J. F. Keller made speeches which were full of praise and encouragement for teacher and pupils.

Just as the teacher was wishing the pupils a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, one of the pupils stepped forward and presented a fountain pen to the teacher as a token of their high esteem and appreciation of his efforts since he had been with them. The teacher thanked his pupils for the gift and the appreciation of his labors with them.

Mr. Wm. Barnett, the man who is employed to transfer the children to and from school, was given a pair of fine gloves by the pupils. The patrons thanked Mr. John Reid, the teacher, for the splendid work he is doing this year, and for making the afternoon so pleasant for them.

An Extra Jug.

I came along to the gate of a humble cabin in a town in Alabama just as an old negro handed a couple of jugs to his son, who was about ten years of age, and said:

"Now, Julius, go down to the grocery and get a quart of molasses in one of dem jugs an' hurry back."

When the boy had gone, I said to the father:

"You didn't tell him to get anything in the other jug. Is he going to leave it at the grocery?"

"No, sah; gwain to bring it back home," he replied.

"But why send two jugs to get a quart of molasses?"

"It's jest dis way, sah. If he only took one jug, he would be powerful shah to bump it or drop it an' lose de molasses. If he takes two, he's jest as liable to drop de empty one as de molasses one, an' dat makes de odds in my favor. Anything else you'd like to ax about, white man?"

of any previous year of our long business career has been our Xmas trade. The reason is because our people realize the need and value of such education and that Munson's carry the stock of his section, giving the people the best values for their money. We are very glad for the chance to prove these statements.

Imperial statistics for 1900 show that Germany had 31,569,926 acres of wood; in 1845 there were 34,333,748 acres, and in 1893 34,473,296 acres. The figures for 1900 thus show an increase, as compared with 1883, of 216,178 acres.

EVERY CENT HELPS—Lieut. Philipson, the officer in charge of the "kettle" on the Public Square, was delighted with the generosity of the passers-by on Saturday. In nickels dimes and quarters he handed over to the Captain upwards of $20 for the Children's Christmas dinner. Capt. Clifford has decided to keep the "pot boiling" for two more days, Monday and Tuesday. Every little helps.

Rollin F. Williams of Granville street one of the popular mounters of the Moser & Wehler Stove Foundry, has resigned to accept a position as an assistant manager with Mechling Bros., oil contractors of Guffy, Texas, near Beaumont. Mr. Williams left Sunday night for his new field of labor and carries with him the best wishes of his many friends of Licking county.

Brains and Commercial Supremacy. Our newly won commercial supremacy has been achieved by our high priced, intelligent and inventive workmen, not by the statesmanship of our financiers. The important factor in commerce today is neither labor nor capital, as such, but brains. I do not mean the "brains" of the Wall street manipulator any more than I mean the "brains" of the counterfeiter and bank sneak. Neither do I mean the "brains" of the monopolist who merely piles million upon million. The brute force of capital is not brains. The sort of intelligence upon which commercial greatness depends is that of the inventor, the skilled mechanic, the clerk or farmer or merchant who mixes thought with useful work.

The American workingman is the most valuable producer of wealth the world has ever seen, yet in proportion to what he produces he receives less wages than any foreign worker. For instance, an English nailmaker gets $3 a week and produces 200 pounds of nails, while an American nailmaker gets $20 a week and produces 5,500 pounds. Thus, while American wages seem high, the worker is much cheaper to employ. At the English rate of payment the American nailmaker would receive $82.50 a week.—Herbert N. Casson in Arena.

A Organizing Union. Among the organizations in Chicago that have made rapid strides in the work of adding to their membership during the past summer few have been more successful than the United Order of Bookmakers and Sawyers. In July last the entire membership of the union in the city did not amount to 1,500. Since that time the girls in the paper box factories of the city have been brought into the fold, and the membership at the present time is 5,500, of whom 3,200 are women and girls. Several factories are still unorganized, and the work of bringing them together is being vigorously pushed. Since the formation of the unions of girls better conditions have been secured in several large factories.

A Too Common Attitude.
A small girl who had just begun to attend school brought home a pumpkin seed and told her mother that the teacher said that, although the seed was white, the pumpkin would be yellow.

"And what will the color of the vines be?" asked the mother.
The little girl replied that the teacher had not taught her that.
"But," said her mother, "you know, dear, for we have pumpkin vines in our garden."
"Of course I do, but we ain't expected to know anything until we are taught."

First Ohio Canal.
The construction of canals was begun in 1825, and by 1832 400 miles of navigable canals were completed. The opening of the first Ohio canal was accomplished July 4, 1827. On that day the first boat descended from Akron to Cleveland. She was cheered on her passage by thousands of people, who assembled from the adjacent country to witness the novel and interesting sight.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS INSTITUTE A NEW COUNCIL.

Largest Banquet of the Year Followed the Degree Work—Visitors From Other Towns.

Newark Council No. 721 Knights of Columbus, was instituted Sunday with impressive ceremonies, and with the brightest prospects of a most successful career.

The ceremonies may be said to have begun in the morning when the visiting delegation of Knights from Columbus, Zanesville and other points, marched to St. Francis de Sales church in a body and attended 10 o'clock, having met at the headquarters for the day, Roland lodge room in the Ankele block.

The sermon preached by Rev. Father O'Boylan was in the nature of an address of welcome, and was highly appreciated by the visitors.

After dinner the first degree was conferred by a team from Columbus Council, and an adjournment was taken to attend the banquet at the hotel Warden.

After the banquet the second degree was conferred by a team from Zanesville Council, and the third was exemplified by J. P. Gavin, of Toronto, O.

The visiting Knights were hearty in their predictions for a successful council in Newark, and this is assured from the list of charter members, 86 in number.

The Knights of Columbus is a Catholic order, which was organized in the '80s. Up until about five years ago its growth was confined principally to the New England states, but this growth is assuming marvelous proportions in the middle west at present. There have been 321 councils organized in three years, which shows the extent of its growth. At present there are 100,000 members. At the same time that Newark council was inaugurated there was one being instituted in Sandusky, O., and another at Glendale, O.

The order is a church order based upon insurance, but may also have associate members. Christopher Columbus has been chosen as patron. The discoverer of America was a devout Catholic, and the members of this faith were prominent in the early settlement of the United States.

The Knights of Columbus is a patriotic order, thoroughly American, and can have no existence outside of the United States.

No man in any way connected with the liquor traffic, can become a member of the order. Another custom which will be incorporated in a resolution, which will be adopted, is designed to do away with the habit of treating. The unwritten law of the order at present is that no good Knight will treat. This is along the line of practical temperance.

The Columbus and other visiting Sir Knights, were made to feel at home, and they thoroughly enjoyed the day's exercises. Many said that they had never seen a more beautiful sight, than that presented in the banquet hall, and they were also confident that Newark council 721 would become one of the strongest and most influential in Ohio.

The banquet, which was given at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the Hotel Warden, was the largest in point of attendance ever given in Newark, and every feature was thoroughly enjoyable.

When the dining room was thrown open, many remarks were made complimentary of the tasteful decorations.

These were formed by artistic draping of the National colors about the room and across the tables, an effective background appearing at the ends and sides, made up of various evergreens, ferns and holly.

During the banquet the Auditorium Orchestra in the ladies' entrance at the west end of the dining room, rendered the following program:

Alagazam, Aibe Roberts.
Lazarre Waltz, Blunke.
Gatinio Frolic, O'Neill.
Bohemian K. Balfe.
Fantello, K. A. Roberts.
Roses and Thorns, Waltz.
Florodora, Stuart.
Crickets' Carnival, C. Haines.
Tannhauser, Wagner.
Symphya Waltz, Hertzman.
Faust, Gounod.
In Ball Costume, E. O. Rollier.
Dance of the Fire Flies, Danno Sintonnes.
The guests to the number of 261 filed into the dining rooms, and took their places, at 3:05 o'clock, and for the next two hours, were busy discussing the following excellent menu:

Menu.
Blue Points.
Celery.
Bouillion en Tasse.
Olives Radishes
Boiled Halibut, Tartar Sauce
Parrissine Potatoes
Cucumbers
Stuffed Turkey, Cranberry Jelly
Mashed Potatoes Green Peas.
K. of Punch.
Fresh Lobster, a la Newburg, en Cases
Asparagus Tips
Combination Salad
Neapolitan Ice Cream Cake
Coffee Cheese

Cigars.
The service was faultless, by forty waiters, under the direction of head waiter, Robert McConnell, and although the crowded condition of the room made it necessary for each waiter to carry and hold his tray at all times, not a dish was broken or a suit soiled.

The toasts were begun after the cigars had been passed and the following responses were made:

Toasts.
"A feast of reason and a flow of soul."

Toastmaster, Rev. B. M. O'Boylan, Newark Council.

Christopher Columbus, Dr. C. A. Wingerter, Wheeling Council.

The Lord's Our Day (Kreutzer), Columbus Council Glee Club.

Our Opportunity, Rev. D. A. Coffey, Columbus Council.

Annie Laurie, (Buck) Columbus Council Glee Club.

Modern Knighthood, Hon. M. P. Mooney, Gilmour Council, Cleveland.

Rev. B. M. O'Boylan in responding to the toast, "To our worthy host, Captain F. G. Warden," sang "A Stirrup Song," to music of his own arrangement.

Representatives were present from councils at Springfield, Cleveland, Denison, Steubenville, Pittsburg, Pa., Wheeling, W. Va., and Grafton, W. Va.

This part of the ceremonies occupied the time until nearly 1 o'clock, when the banquet broke up, and the guests repaired to the Roland Lodge rooms, where the concluding work of the institution ceremonies was done, and the visiting Sir Knights took various trains for their homes, carrying with them kindly remembrance of the royal treatment accorded them while in Newark.

The following are the officers of Newark Council:

Officers.
W. H. Smith, Grand Knight.
W. E. Foley, Deputy Grand Knight.
F. A. Bolton, Chancellor.
C. J. Pieri, Recorder.
F. T. Maurath, Financial Secretary.

The name of A. C. Davis should have appeared Saturday in the list of charter members of Newark Council.

A GIRL'S DRESS IN RED SERGE.
A girl's frock of Indian-red serge has the new cape collar, headed by velvet, and fancified with embroidery. The waist is plaited with cord loops arranged at the center. The cuffs are of velvet, and the gored skirt displays fancy strappings and buttons. Corticelli sewing silk is used throughout in the making of this pretty little gown.

For the every-day street or tailor suit the same materials which have served so well in the past, such as cloth, serge, vicuna and cheviot, will all again be worn this year. And for entire gowns, and in many cases for skirt and coat suits, camel's-hair and zibeline will be used, these two materials being especially nice for better gowns for the afternoon, as they lend themselves easily to the more fanciful ways of trimming; then, too, they are so light and supple in texture that they may be gracefully manipulated in the various flat models of skirts and jackets.

SUNDAY FIRE

Scheidler Machine Shop Roof Damaged, but Loss Fully Protected by Insurance.

About 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning, an alarm of fire was sounded from box 23, and the central department promptly responding found the foundry at Scheidler's Machine shops to be on fire.

The fire had started in a pile of wood in the rear of the core oven, next the blacksmith shop, and after the upper part of the blacksmith shop had caught, the flames followed a draft and soon enveloped the roof timbers of the foundry on the canal bank north of the blacksmith shop and adjoining it.

The fire was confined here, and no further damage was done, except that a new roof will have to be put on the foundry and part of the blacksmith shop. Several molds in the sand were destroyed, but the entire loss, which Mr. Scheidler said he could not estimate Monday morning, is covered by insurance.

The Great Seal Drawing Contest

The judges who have consented to decide this contest are Mrs. A. C. Hatch, Miss Daisy Cherry, Prof. F. M. Townsend.

The character and ability of these well known artists and art critics, will assure each pupil that the books will be judged according to merit.

Many books, some of which represent excellent work, will not be entered in the contest for not complying with all the conditions. Many books have neither grade, name of teacher or name of pupil, some have name of pupil only, and all such are thrown out as it is not possible to determine what grade they should be entered.

The contest has been most satisfactory to us and the number of books returned, which was about 1200 exceeded our greatest expectations.

The result from an advertising standpoint is pleasing to us and beneficial to our patrons for it has proved to hundreds of families that GREAT SEAL PRUNE LAXATIVE and GREAT SEAL COUGH BALM are all and more than we have ever claimed for them.

Our only regret is, that each pupil who tried so faithfully could not receive a prize.

Names of the winners will be announced in this paper Wednesday, December 24th.

Pole Smith vs. Connelly.

The boxing contest between "Pole" Smith of this city, and "Reddy" Connelly, that was scheduled to take place in Findlay on Christmas night has been declared off. Connelly refused to fight on the terms that had been agreed upon, that is, the winner to take all the receipts. It is probable, however, that the fighters will get together, and that the fight will take place on February 19th.
